Dear Parents

This week in maths, we began a new unit of maths. The children learnt to find the perimeter of rectangles, and the area of rectangles and compound shapes. In English, a reading comprehension was completed, along with a descriptive recount, which had to show empathy with a character in our story. In science, we found out about the life and work of Jane Goodall and in RE we considered the concept of sacrifice. In PE this week, we had a lovely netball lesson outside in the sunshine and a gymnastics session, in which the children worked together to create some brilliant balances.

Teacher of the Week

This week, Ben had made a great presentation about 'Monster jam'. He read it out to the class with confidence and answered our questions really well. The children watched some video clips and enjoyed designing a monster truck of their own.
